Subject: New Play "8" by Dustin Lance Black Starring George Clooney, Brad Pitt, Martin Sheen, Jamie Lee Curtis, & More

Free Resource - June 6th, 2012

Free Resource of the Day

8: A New Play by Dustin Lance Black \(for \$4.95\)

Today we're starting out by featuring a special new release from L.A. Theatre Works entitled 8: A New Play by Dustin Lance Black. The play is written by Dustin Lance Black who wrote the screenplay for the film Milk and it's directed by American movie director Rob Reiner. The cast is the most star-studded ensemble of any L.A. Theatre Works production featuring George Clooney, Brad Pitt, Martin Sheen, Kevin Bacon, Jamie Lee Curtis, Christine Lahti, John C. Reilly, Jane Lynch, George Takei, and many other great actors.

The play brings to life the Perry v. Schwarzenegger trial which overturned California's Proposition 8 on February 7, 2012, ruling that the 2008 California ballot initiative restricting marriage of opposite-sex couples was unconstitutional. The play was recorded at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre on March 3, 2012 and was just released on audio download last week. Download the dramatization of this historic event on MP3 audio for only $4.95.

And now to our Free Resource of the Day:

L.A. Theatre Works "The Play's the Thing" Podcast

L.A. Theatre Works produces some of the finest audio dramas available which they feature on their national broadcast series on public radio stations throughout the United States. The plays feature many top professional actors and are recorded complete with sound effects and music. Currently they're featuring a free podcast of the 1979 Pulitzer Prize Winner for Drama: Sam Shepard's Buried Child. The play depicts the fragmentation of the American nuclear family in a context of disillusionment with the American dream, the 1970s rural economic slowdown, and the breakdown of traditional family values. You can also download a conversation about the play with Shepard biographer and arts critic Don Shewey.

Arthur Miller Plays on Audio

Arthur Miller was a famous American playwright. The child of two Jewish immigrants from Poland, he worked in an automotive parts warehouse to make money for college. He married his childhood sweetheart, a Catholic girl named Mary Slattery and had two children. On graduating, he wrote for Broadway, with the play that led to his fame being Death of a Salesman, first performed in 1949. In 1956, he divorced Mary and married Marilyn Monroe, but they were divorced in turn a year before her death.

Politically active, he was called in front of the house Committee on Un-American Activities. More than once, he was accused of being a Communist and denied permission to travel. This culminated in him being found in contempt of Congress and having his passport removed. It was after this that he became president of P.E.N., an international organization that campaigned for the rights of suppressed writers. He died of heart failure in 2005.

He is best known for Death of a Salesman, available in audio format as a full cast dramatization. Another of his most famous plays is The Crucible, about the witch trials of Salem with an allegorical connection to the McCarthy era anti-Communist Red Scare that he experienced. Those interested in his early career may want to download his very first play, The Man Who Had All The Luck which was under appreciated at the time and shown only four times. Enjoy full cast dramatizations of some of Arthur Miller's most famous plays.
